Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 16 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Unsettled with bright spells and blustery showers.

Today:
Early rain will soon clear from the east to leave a lot of dry weather this morning with some bright spells. However, showery rain will push eastwards this afternoon occasionally heavy, particularly over hills. Mild, but breezy. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Tonight:
Rain eases by the early evening, and clear skies gradually emerge for some, leaving mild but breezy conditions. Further rain, occasionally heavy, moves in during the small hours. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Wednesday:
Rain soon clears during the morning, with bright and dry conditions for a time. Winds strengthen though as further rain pushes northwards around lunchtime, passing over all areas by evening. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Rain on Thursday morning soon clears to give way to sunshine and blustery showers. Coastal gales developing Friday with further rain arriving. Outbreaks of rain throughout Saturday too.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.